WATCHLIST Performance

9-Year Performance - Growth of £10,000 capital

From 2014, £10,000 invested equally into my selection of hand picked UK stocks would today be worth £25,383 in mid-2022. This is a 153.8% return over 8.5 years which is over 17% annual average return per year. This has been achieved despite Brexit, the Covid-19 pandemic, the invasion of Ukraine, rising energy prices, rising inflation and a poor outlook upon the UK economy.

Our Strategy

My philosophy around picking stocks for the watchlist is relatively simple.

Consistency in Trends

Firstly I want to see that over the last 10-15 years the company is making positive progress. Is revenue rising year after year? Are they keeping expenses at a particular level relative to that incoming revenue? Is profit consistent year after year?

For me, it's important that if I'm going to invest into a business, I want to see that not only is the company going somewhere, but that it has a track record of that, and it has shown evidence of moving forwards.

This in itself eliminates many start ups or "new kids on the block". I don't invest in fresh new tech companies. Most fail. But more importantly, they don't have a track record. Companies that have been rising and growing for the last 10 years have clearly found their edge.

There is no prediction here. We are not investing in some new solar business because we "think" there might be money in solar. We do not need to be the pioneers and beat everyone else to the pot of gold.

We wait until the company proves that there is money in what they are doing, and that they can be consistent. THEN we jump in. And we'll stay there for 10-20 years if it keeps going up.

I often remind my members "Sometimes it makes us late to the party, but at least there is a party".

Profits

In personal finance, if you want to get rich, you must keep at least 10% of everything you make. If you make £4000 a month and spend £4000 a month you can't grow. By siphoning 10% or £400 into a pot each month, you can use that money to grow. Perhaps invest in yourself, or in a business or anything that might raise your income. Do that and eventually you'll make £5000 a month. But your 10% is now bigger. More to invest. Providing you invest it wisely, you make it to £10,000 a month. And your 10% is now worth £1000 a month. This is a money making machine.

I look for the same in my businesses. Firstly, which companies have consistently made enough profit every year? But more than that, who's making over 10% profit every single year?

It's no use investing in a company like Tesco. They make 1% profit each year. Some years they make a loss. Sure, they make billions in revenue, but they spend the same amount of billions on expenses. They have less than 1% left over most years. You can't grow with 1%. You can't afford to re-invest back into the business. Tesco plc cannot grow. They've reached their limit. Which is precisely why their share price is at the same level today as it was 20 years ago. Do you think it'll suddenly start moving now? I think it's highly unlikely. Don't invest in Tesco.

We identify companies that make more than 10% profit per year. In fact, most of our handpicked stocks make a lot more than that, consistently. They've been doing so for years. Even during the 2008 banking crisis and the 2020 pandemic. This is a sign of a wonderful business. Most of them are not household names. You'll likely have never heard of many of them. But they are pivotal businesses that are growing and re-investing in their own growth.

Low Debts

I don't mind debt in a business. If you can borrow at 5% and use it to make 8% then it's good debt. I also don't do what most investors do which is look at the debt being say £300m and suddenly run. It's all relative.

You see, £300m to BP is very different to £300m in a small flooring business. It depends on the size of the business. Or more importantly, on the ability to pay it back.

When I look at debt, I want to see that the company are not biting off more than they can chew. Borrowing is fine. But are they making enough profit consistently to pay it back over time? Whether they do or don't isn't the issue. All I want to know is 'can they'?

Many FTSE companies are carrying debt levels they can't afford to pay back. Only this morning I saw an airline company with £3bn of debt, and they are making a loss of £0.5bn a year. That's a recipe for disaster.

Most investors buy stocks and don't even think to look at debt levels.

Retained Earnings

What are they doing with the surplus profits? Literally no investors look at this. But it's crucial.

If they are making good profits, where are those profits going? Many companies opt to try and keep investors sweet by paying big dividends. That's nice, but it's not for me.

If they are a profitable growing business, I'd rather see them KEEP that surplus profit and re-invest it back into the growth of the business. I will make far larger returns in the long run by seeing the share price grow than I will from dividends.

This doesn't mean we don't get paid dividends. We do. But they are not the reason we choose to invest in a company. They are just an added bonus and on the side.

Many of the companies I invest in re-invest using acquisitions. They'll find complimentary businesses, already succeeding, and they'll buy them out. Now owning that companies assets and profits on top of their own. This is a wonderful growth strategy done right and also aids in share price growth.

The above is just a taste of what I look for in a stock. Members of the Sussex Investment Club get full complimentary access to my online video course which goes into far greater depth on explaining what I look for and why.

How the Investment Club Works?

Weekly Report

Every Saturday subscribing members receive a report on the performance of our hand-picked stocks. Detailing what every stock is, but just as importantly, what price we should be buying them at. Some of the stocks are overpriced by the market. Meaning, they are not good value for money right now. An investment is only a good investment if the price is right, after all. The Saturday report is sent via email in .pdf format and will list every watchlist stock, how it's doing, what price to buy it at, and what price to leave it at.

My Own Results

Every month you will also receive a copy of my own portfolio report. Detailing my own investing portfolio, what I've bought, what I've sold and why. You can use it to follow, or just as an educational tool. But there is 100% transparency in the club. You'll see how much my stocks are worth, exactly which ones I have and how much of them. Nothing is held back.

Our Community

You'll gain access to our members only chat room. It's easy to join on Discord, and allows you access to speak to all other members. Remember, all members are singing from the same hymn sheet. They are buying from the same list of handpicked stocks as you. So you already have something in common with everyone in there. Use the chat to ask questions, or just join in the conversations whenever you get a spare minute. We are planning in-person meet ups eventually as well in the future, so you might actually get to meet other investors face to face.

Training & Education

Members also get access to my online training seminar. A pre-recorded training program that teaches you how I analyse the stocks and precisely what I look for. By the end you could technically do the work yourself. However, analysis of a company can take days. Most investors don't have the time to put into that. But knowing the level of the work I put into the analysis will help give you peace of mind on the stocks identified.

Support

You can contact me via email, phone, facebook and the chat room if you have any questions or problems. I am easily accessible to members. If you are stuck or need advice, I am here to help you through the process. You may want help opening a broker account, or picking your first stock for example.

How do I join up?

Membership costs £57/month. There are no hidden fees. No minimum terms. You pay your subscription and you get the reports and extras. If you cancel your subs, you lose access. It's very simple with no fuss.
